The story

VERITAS®

A WOMAN GOES HER OWN WAY

Camille

Camille Claudel decided at an early age to be a sculptress even though it was not viewed as a suitable career for women at the time. At 18, she met the sculptor Auguste Rodin and became his assistant. In the following years, she created numerous groundbreaking sculptures and became a significant artist. As a symbol for all women who go their own way, we have named the machine the VERITAS Camille after her.

Key features

VERITAS®

It only takes the press of a button

Nobody wants ruffles and tangled seams! For this reason, the thread tension on the VERITAS Camille can be set either automatically, or in several steps individually. Even perfect buttonholes are possible by simply pressing a button. The fully automatic buttonhole programme takes care of everything. Only the supplied button hole foot must be attached, and even that is done with just one movement.

Creative and versatile

No matter whether decorations for sets or table cloths, smart hems on dresses, or appliqués - the VERITAS Camille is equipped for every project. With the 32 varied blind hem-, stretch-, satin-, and decorative stitch programmes, beautiful seams can be produced on elastic and solid, light and heavy materials, and the various overlock stitches are ideally suited to neatening seams and cutting edges.

Perfectly equipped

For all those who want to achieve high-quality sewing results, the Camille VERITAS leaves no wish unfulfilled. The powerful motor, low-vibration housing and the reliable 6-point lower feed dog allow precise, powerful working. Thanks to the integrated threading assistant, the thread is threaded in seconds, and the glare-free sewing light provides optimal lighting for the large extension table.
